Berry and Stewart Descendants Plan Annual Reunion Sunday

Descendants of Youngstown's leading Negro pioneers, P. Ross Berry and Lemuel Stewart, will hold their annual reunion Sunday afternoon and evening at Pioneer Pavilion in Mill Creek Park. About 200 persons are expected, about half of whom are direct descendants of Stewart and Berry. President Thomas Robinson will preside.

The Berry and Stewart families were not only pioneer Negroes in the area but also among the early residents among all groups.

P. Ross and Mary Long Berry and Lemuel and Mary Richards Stewart came by canal boat from New Castle, Pa., during the Civil War. The families have intermarried and been closely associated ever since.

A Fitzhugh family that lived on the site of the present Hotel Youngstown is believed to have been the first Negroes here but records of this family have been lost. P. Ross Berry and his wife were the second Negroes. Their old homestead was on the site of the present Pennsylvania Railroad Depot. Berry was a brick mason contractor known for his skill, and his honesty. Much of his fine work is still standing. He laid the bricks for the old Opera House, the old Tod House, the original First Baptist Church, old Rayen School at Wick and Wood St., and the First Presbyterian Church.

His close associates were his sons, Charles, Don, Wilson and Plympton. Charles carried on the family business and specialized in brick mantels in the fine homes of his day. Nobody ever thought of having anyone else build a mantel when Charley Berry was at hand.

All the members of the family were musical. They had their own band and also played in the famous GAR Band. A daughter, May Berry Lynch, was one of the leading local music teachers, pianists and vocalists of her day.

President Tom Robinson is a great-grandson of P. Ross Berry, founder of the family.

Attorney Clarence Robinson, vice president of The Wilkoff Co. is a grandson of P. Ross Berry, and Dick Lynch, newspaper man and musician, is also a grandson. A daughter of Berry, Addie Berry Robinson, was in the second graduating class of Rayen School.

W. R. Stewart

22 Youngstown Vindicator
Youngstown, Ohio
Thursday, July 30, 1953

Lemuel Stewart was a bricklayer and with his sons, Charles and William, also worked in the contracting business with the Berry family. Later W. R. Stewart studied law, was the first Negro lawyer here and was elected to the Ohio Legislature where he served from 1898 to 1904. He is now the dean of the Mahoning County Bar Association. Stewart's Bakery was operated by this family on Arlington Ave. His specialty was fancy rolls which he supplied for the leading social events in the city, along with meeting the needs of the daily trade he built up.

Frank Stewart's barber shop near Central Square was the rendezvous of the city's industrialists who went there daily for their shave, and had their own mugs on a long shelf. This was in the day before the safety razors and Stewart had a heavy share of the town's business. Several members of his family became chiropodists and have been recognized in their field for their ability.

Atty William R. Stewart

Atty. William R. Stewart, 93, dean of Youngstown's attorneys and the city's first Negro lawyer, died of arteriosclerosis at 3:40 a.m. today at his home, 514 Tod Lane.

Atty. Stewart, one of the most respected members of the Mahoning County Bar Association, had been in failing health for the last few years and had been a semi-invalid.

The body is at the Underwood Funeral Home.

Born in New Castle

The gray-haired dean of the Mahoning County Bar Association, a graduate of the University of Cincinnati Law School in 1886, was honored by both the local and Ohio State bar associations in 1955 "for his good and full life."

Atty. Stewart was a son of one of the city's pioneer Negro families. He was born in New Castle, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Pa., Oct. 29, 1864, and about a year later came by canal boat to Youngstown with his parents, Lemuel A. and Mary Richards Stewart. One of five children, he worked for a time with his father who was a bricklayer and had worked on many of Youngstown's older downtown buildings. His schooling was received at old Wood St. School and a one-room school at Westlake Crossing until Covington School was built. From there he went to Front St. and then to Rayen School where he was graduated in 1883.

Worked on Railroad

The month after graduation, C. H. Andrews, president of the old P.C.&T. Railroad, gave him a job on the railroad freight platform and Atty. Stewart soon was promoted to baggage master.

When the road went into receivership, Atty. Stewart went to read law in the offices of Woodworth & Wirt (ex-Congressman L. D. Woodworth and B. F. Wirt). While with the firm, he established a side business of unwinding red tape necessary to get Civil War veterans their pensions. Later he sold this business to Charles F. Callahan.

This gave Atty. Stewart sufficient money to enter Cincinnati Law School. It was there that he met his wife, the former Consuelo Clarke, daughter of a school superintendent in Cincinnati. She had a serious ailment that caused her to go to medical school and become a doctor so she could know more about her case and do good for others.

Returns with Wife

The couple returned to Youngstown where Atty. Stewart set up law practice in the old Diamond Block and Mrs. Stewart entered medical practice continuing to one week before she died in 1911. She sponsored the city's first free kindergarten and was one of the organizers of the YWCA here.

Like many attorneys, Atty. Stewart at one time took a fling at politics. His first was successful when, in 1895, he was nominated for state representative on the first ballot at the Republican convention. He was elected that fall by a good majority and thereafter served two terms in the Ohio Legislature from 1896 to 1900. While in the Legislature, he supported the Smith antimob violence legislation and introduced the amended present law during his second term.

Atty. Stewart also supported legislation for building Market St. bridge viaduct and obtaining tax aid for organizing and supporting St. Elizabeth Hospital. He sponsored legislation abolishing the fee system and placing justices of the peace in Youngstown on salary. He was once an unsuccessful candidate for probate judge.

Had Good Practice

An able attorney, he had an extensive law practice and an early railroad case under the then new federal liability act in which Atty. Stewart established the right of plaintiff to base his claim on both Ohio and federal law is cited in all textbooks on the subject.

While not active in recent years, Atty. Stewart at one time took part in a number of community and civic duties. He legislated for pensions for police and firemen and at one time was a member of the board of trustees of the Youngstown Police Pension Fund. He was past vice president of the Youngstown Interracial Committee and member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

From 1907 to 1914 he served as special counsel for the Austro-Hungarian government representing the Washington embassy through the Cleveland consulate.

Loved to Garden

He took great pride in his Tod Lane home where his library numbered well over 1,000 volumes. He enjoyed gardening tremendously when he was able to get out and took special pride in the culture of his rose garden.

In 1947, Atty. Stewart was honored by the Interracial Committee and in 1953 as the oldest living member of the Berry and Stewart families at their annual reunion. In recent years he maintained his downtown office in the Union National Bank Building.

Atty. Stewart leaves a sister, Mrs. Mollie Jefferson of Youngstown, and six nieces and nephews, Dr. Margaret Dandridge, Myron F. Stewart, Mrs. Consuelo Catlin, Russell Stewart, and William R. Jefferson of Youngstown, and Mrs. Margaret Gillespie of Baltimore, Md.

Black History—VI—

Old Rayen School Was Built By Black Brick Mason in 1866

By E. WAYNE ROBINSON

(Sixth of eight articles on Youngstown's black history).

Problems being experienced by blacks trying to get into the construction trades in the Youngstown area today are a far cry from the middle 1800s when two black master brick masons were being actively wooed by community leaders to erect some of the city's best known edifices.

P. Ross Berry and Lemuel Stewart and their families came from New Castle, Pa., by canal boat bringing with them brick masonry skills which were to help in the development of the burgeoning industrial city on the Mahoning River.

For about 15 to 20 years up into the 1900s Berry, with the assistance of Stewart, was the only brick mason contractor in the town. He soon became one of the best known and respected members of the community because of his honesty and fine work which was in great demand.

Berry built the first court house when the county seat was moved from Canfield to Youngstown. Their original structure at Wick Avenue and Wood Street stood for many years until the courthouse was moved downtown. In 1868 he and Stewart completed the first Rayen School, which was expanded later and today is the William Rayen Hall of Youngstown State University.

Built Park Hotel

About the same time Berry and Stewart constructed the Park Hotel, then located on the northeast corner of Central Square, where the Stambaugh Building is now located; the old Tod Hotel, then on the southwest side of Central Square; the Opera House; First Presbyterian Church; First Baptist Church; the Dollar Bank Building; the former Front Street and Covington Street schools, and Tod School, which is still standing.

Youngstown's David Tod, Civil War governor of Ohio, commissioned Berry to build his home in Holmes Avenue (now Fifth Avenue) where Commerce Street intersects today. Not only was the Tod mansion erected by Berry but also many of the mansions along Wick Avenue.

Berry and Stewart's fame spread during the last few years of the century, and they were called to other towns. They built a school in Oil City, Pa., and also constructed buildings in Poland, Warren, and Mercer, Pa.

Sons of both Berry and Stewart

RAYEN SCHOOL BUILT BY A BLACK—The original Rayen School in Wick Avenue opened in 1866 was built by P. Ross Berry, a master brick mason and one of the earliest black settlers in Youngstown. Berry, with the assistance of Lemuel Stewart, constructed the facility which has since been expanded and is now known as the William Rayen Hall of Youngstown State University.

art worked alongside their fathers and they, too, became accomplished brick masons. These sons, Charles B. Stewart, Charles Long Stewart, Lemuel Augustus Stewart, William Stewart, Donald Berry, Charles Berry, Wilson Berry, and Plympton Berry, are credited with building structures such as St. Augustine's Episcopal Church in Parmelee Avenue and the Buckeye Elks building on North Avenue.

Charles Berry was especially noted for building some of the finest mantels in the city. If anyone wanted a fireplace built and Charles Berry was near they never thought of hiring anyone else. The other Berrys and Stewarts also were gifted mantel builders.

Dr. Lemuel Stewart, at his Liberty Road home that was constructed by his great-grandfather Lemuel B. Stewart for the Hitchcock family as a summer home, proudly relates the history of the house for visitors, especially noting the stone fireplace. The home also is adorned by a oak sideboard with a marble top that was given to one of the doctor's forebears by Governor Tod.

Dr. Stewart says that at the same time his great-grandfather, his great-uncles and the Berrys did brick work, there was another family named Lewis, who were carpenters and often accompanied Stewarts on projects.

Others in Crafts

There also were other blacks in the building crafts in the early 1900s. Andrew Murdock, also a member of Brick Masons Local 8 was self-employed, practicing his trade here from 1910 until his death in 1968. Tom Watkins became one of the major cement finishers in the area.

Besides being master craftsmen, the Stewarts and Berrys were active union organizers. They organized both black and white bricklayers into Brick Masons Local 8 with Lemuel A. Stewart, Charles L. Stewart, and Charles Berry being among the seven founders. At the time the charter was granted March 17, 1886, Charles Stewart was serving as recording secretary with Lemuel Stewart and Charles Berry as trustees. Throughout the late 1800s and early 1900s the Stewarts and Berrys remained active in the union as did white brick masons with names like Shatrum and Logan who later became leading names in the community.

Black craftsmen were active in organizing other unions besides the brick masons. Calvin Malone, business representative and president of Operating Engineers Local 66, says that when the union's charter was approved by the national there were 12 black members, representing a substantial majority of the membership.

A number of other black craftsmen, possibly not all unionized since the unions were not significantly strong in the late 1800s and early 1900s, helped build Youngstown around the turn of the century.

Notes for Plympton Ross Berry:

Most accounts indicate that P. Ross Berry and his wife had eight children. The 1900 census indicates that Mary gave birth to ten children, with eight surviving.

Vincent Shivers reports that the couple had nine children [Dreck Spurlock Wilson (editor), African American Architects: A Biographical Dictionary 1865-1945 (NY & London, Routledge. Imprint of Taylor & Francis Inc., 2004), Akron Summit County Public Library, 60 South High St. Akron, OH 44326, 33.]

Came to Youngstown via canal boat from New Castle, PA circa March 1862 when his oldest son Thomas D. was three months old.

"Berry owned his own brickyard, where he burned a unique, reddish orange brick for some of his jobs." "In addition to Civil War veterans that he hired, Berry taught bricklaying to his oldest son, Thomas. In 1881 (see below) Berry and thirty-five mostly White bricklayers met to charter Local 8 Bricklayers Union in Youngstown, which remains active today." From Dreck Spurlock Wilson (editor), African American Architects: A Biographical Dictionary 1865-1945 (NY & London, Routledge. Imprint of Taylor & Francis Inc., 2004), Akron Summit County Public Library, 60 South High St. Akron, OH 44326, 34.

Buildings believed to be Associated with Berry's work:

Lawrence County, PA

P. Ross Berry was a noted brick mason. His first professional job was working on the Lawrence County Court House, circa 1851. The New Castle Gazette in 1852 wrote "It (the courthouse) will stand for the ages as a monument of youth vigor and taste. For a century to come our citizens will be content with their public building, nor desire to tear them down to erect more splendid ones." [appears in Dreck Spurlock Wilson (editor), African American Architects: A Biographical Dictionary 1865-1945 (NY & London, Routledge. Imprint of Taylor & Francis Inc., 2004), Akron Summit County Public Library, 60 South High St. Akron, OH 44326, 33.]

"The contract for building a court house and jail was let to Craig & Hamilton. The work was commenced in the Fall of 1850, and completed in 1852. The stone were quarried near by, and when the entire job was finished the total cost, including improvements upon the grounds, amounted to the surprisingly low sum of thirty-two thousand dollars ($32,000)." Mahoning County, Ohio Probate Court, Probate Civil Case File #1356 Erskine & Co. vs. Berry, P. Ross et al. (Original case file in MVHS Collections): Erskine and Co. recovered a judgement against Berry et al for $38.52 debt and costs at $3.55. Lien placed 31 October 1879. "No goods or chattels lands or tenements of the within named P. Ross Berry found where on to levy and for want thereof the annexed writ is returned no money made not satisfied." And the plaintiff further says "Callahan Brothers is in debted to and has property money and rights in action of the said P. Ross Berry in their possession of the said P. Ross Berry in their possession and under their control adn that the said P. Ross Berry has property which he unjustly refuses to apply to the satisfaction of the said judgement." Call for Zadoch Callahan and Delorma Callahan, operating as Callahan Brothers to appear before court in this matter.

Mahoning County, Ohio Probate Court, Probate Civil Case File #1357 Erskine, James vs. Berry, P. Ross et al. (Original case file in MVHS Collections): Callahan Brothers say "about the 20 day of August A.D. 1879, they entered into a contract with said P. Ross Berry by the terms of which said Berry agreed to build for them a brick building on their premises in the City of Youngstown and to complete the same in three weeks from the time of commencing said work and in default of the completion of said building in said period of time said P. R. Berry was to forfeit to them of the amount to be due and payable from them to said Berry the sum of fifteen dollars per day for every day said building was incomplete after the expiration of three weeks from the time of commencing said work. That if said building was completed witing said time, these defendents were to pay to said Berry the sum of fifteen hundred and fifty dollars to be due and payable as follows" herewith a schedule of payments is laid out in the document. "...the said Berry had the first story completed and about one half of the second story, and had received from these defendents the sum of $1200.14 and were not indebted to him in any sum but had overpaid him to the amount of $700.14." The Callahans petitioned the court to dismiss any further amounts believed to be owed to Berry. James Erskine claims a judgement of $248.70 with $3.60 taxes against Berry. These proceedings were dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff ad the garnishes against Callahan found "nothing in their hands belonging to said Defendant."

Mahoning County, Ohio Probate Court, Probate Civil Case File #1361 James Erskine vs. P. Ross Berry et al. (Original case file in MVHS Collections): Summons to have Zadoch Callahan and Delorma Callahan, partners doing business as Callahan Brothers, to appear before the Probate Judge, 29 November 1879 to answer the "indebtedness of them to P. Ross Berry and also concerning any property in their hands belonging to the said P. Ross Berry the defendent herein. This order is granted upon the affidavit of James Erskine to subject the monies, rights, credits and closes in action and any other property that may be in the hands of the said Zadoch Callahan and Delorma Callahan belonging to the said P. Ross Berry to the satisfaction of a Judgement of $248.70 debt and $3.60 costs and increase costs rendered

"Pioneer is Called Away. P. Ross Berry Dies Saturday Afternoon - Eighty-three Years Old. P. Ross Berry, pioneer resident of Youngstown died at the family residence 725 (sic) Arlington street at 3 p.m. Saturday after a week's illness with pneumonia. He was in his eighty-third year.

Deceased was born June 1, 1834 at Mount Pleasant, PA, in 1840 moved to New Castle and 21 years later came to this city, and has made Youngstown his home ever since. A brick layer by trade, he had the distinction of erecting some of the city's most substantial buildings among them Rayen school, the Opera House, court house, The Reuben McMillan public library, the First Presbyterian Church and others. He had always been one of the community's most highly regarded citizens. On March 28, 1857 he was united to Mary M. Long who passed away about ten years ago. Surviving him are the following children: Mrs. Thomas Robinson, Mrs. William Sims, Mrs. R. D. Lynch, Thomas D., Charles L., and Wilson M. Berry of this city and Mrs. Thomas E. Tyler of (illegible), Minn. Funeral arrangements will be announced Monday."

Vindicator, Monday May 14, 1917 (microfilm at Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County, 305 Wick Avenue, Youngstown, OH):

"Deaths and Funerals: P. Ross Berry (with illustration). "Funeral services for P. Ross Berry, who died Saturday afternoon, will be conducted Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the late residence, 725 (sic) Arlington street. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery."

Youngstown Telegram, Monday May 14, 1917 (microfilm at Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County, 305 Wick Avenue, Youngstown, OH):

"Pioneer Contractor is Called by Death. P. Ross Berry, one of Youngstown's pioneer residents and well known former contractor, died Saturday at 3 p.m. after an illness of one week with pneumonia. He was 83 years old.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the residence with Rev. John T. Ogburn in charge. Burial will be made in Oak Hill cemetery."

Youngstown Telegram, Tuesday May 15, 1917 (microfilm at Public Library of Youngstown and Mahoning County, 305 Wick Avenue, Youngstown, OH):

"Funeral Services for Pioneer Held" (with illustration), P. Ross Berry. Funeral services for P. Ross Berry, who died Saturday after a brief illness of pneumonia, were held Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. at the family residence, 724 Arlington street, Rev. John T. Ogburn officiated and interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mr. Berry, who was 83 years old, came to Youngstown 35 years ago by way of the old canal, there being no railroads leading to the city then. Having learned the bricklayer's trade he became a contractor shortly after coming here and as such was successful. Beside many other lesser structures, Mr. Berry had the distinction of erecting many of the most substantial buildings in the city, such as Rayen school, the old Tod House, the Grand Opera house, old St. Columba's church, First Presbyterian church and the former Reuben McMillan Free library home.

Surviving are seven children: Mrs. Thomas Robinson, Mrs. William Sims, Mrs. R. D. Lynch, Thomas D., Charles L., and Wilson M. Berry of Youngstown, and Mrs. Thomas E. Taylor of Tower, Minn.; 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren."

"Thomas D. Berry, eldest son of the late Mary Long and P. Ross Berry, passed away at his home, 916 Foster st., Wednesday evening, following an illness of six months due to complications. Mr. Berry was born in New Castle, Pa., December 19, 1862, coming to this city with his parents when three months old, and had resided here his entire life. He attended the Front St. school, later learning the bricklayer's trade under his father, and as an apprentice laid the first bricks on the old opera house, now occupied by the Oles market. He was a charter member of St. Augustine's church and took an active interest in all of its affairs. He was united to Leonora Evans of Cleveland, Nov. 25, 1896. Of that union two daughters were born, Lillian and Marion, the latter of whom preceded him in death 10 years ago. His death, though not unexpected, came as a great shock to his many relatives and friends throughout the city. Besides his wife and daughter he is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Charles L. and Wilson M. Berry and Mrs. Margaret Sims, Mrs. R. D. Lynch, all of this city, and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Tower, Minn., and a host of other relatives and friends. A sister, Mrs. Addie Robinson, preceded him in death six months ago. Friends may view the remains at the St. Augustine's Chapel Saturday from 1 to 2 p.m. Funeral services will be held at 2. Interment in Belmont cemetery."

"Colored News Notes of General Interest"

"Thomas D. Berry, 61 years of age, died at 10 p.m. Wednesday at his residence, 916 Foster st. of carcinoma of the stomach, after a long illness. His health had been falling for some time, but only within the past three or four months has his condition become serious.

Mr. Berry was born in New Castle, Dec. 19, 1862, the son of Mary Long and P. Ross Berry.

His parents moved to this city when he was three months old and he has resided here ever since. He was regarded as one of the best brick masons in the city. When serving his apprenticeship he laid the first brick in the old Opera House. He was married to Lenora A. Evans of Cleveland, Nov. 25, 1896, to which union two daughters were born. The youngest Marion Lenora, preceded him in death 10 years ago. He was a thoroughly conscientious industrious citizen, of excellent character and habits, genial and kindly mannered, was liked and respected and his death will cause a widespread regret. He was a charter member of St. Augustine's Episcopal chapel, was senior warden and was the first confirmed male member of the Chapel. He is survived by his wife, one daughter, Lillian Marguerite, three sisters, Mrs. Richard D. Lynch, Mrs. Margaret Simms of this city and Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Tower, Minn., two brothers, Charles L. and Wilson Berry and a legion of other relatives and friends. his sister, Mrs. Addie Robinson, preceded him in death only seven months ago.

Funeral will be held at the chapel at 2 p.m. Saturday, the vicar Rev. John T. Ogburn officiating. The body will lie in state at the Chapel from 12 to 2 p.m. Interment in Belmont cemetery."
